

who rode one of Daly's sorrels. Mr. Daly said Moran weighed fifty-five pounds and was "the finest boy on the American turf." All the horsemen agreed that he was one of the best riders they ever saw.

It was almost miraculous how the little fellow managed the fretful horse as coolly as an old jockey and as well. The horses were nearly all back at the stables by 9 o'clock, and the visitors, when the fresh breeze came, had a very good appetite, sought the club house where, over their steaks, they discussed upon the good ones and the bad ones.

If there is a slight rain this evening the track will be in perfect condition and very fast, and with a fine weather the meeting will be one of the best ever held in this country.

GENERAL SPORTING NOTES.

The nines of the western and eastern divisions of the national general's office crossed bats for a key of honor on the Mall ground Saturday afternoon, and the western secured the exhilarating foam by a score of 20 to 0.

The Howards of Alexandria, defeated the Kendalls Saturday by a score of 15 to 11.

The Orions won their colors to the Potomac Saturday by a score of 13 to 11.

At Annapolis, on Saturday, the Naval Academy nine defeated the Waverlys by a score of 7 to 5. Seven innings were played. The Waverlys were short Barr and Gerard, who were disabled.

The Columbias defeated the Episcopal High school nine Saturday by a score of 25 to 16.

The tub race between Prof. Odium and Donahue, of Davenport, Iowa, did not come off on Saturday because of the nonappearance of the former.

The Anaslans held their regular monthly meeting Saturday night. Twelve active and two contributing honorary members were elected. Capt. Paris, W. A. McKenny, and Eugene Morgan were appointed a committee to confer with committees from the other clubs to make arrangements for the Potomac regatta. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the club regatta, which will be held this Sunday in New York.

The Junior Washingtons defeated the Invincibles Saturday by a score of 35 to 0.

Three members of Vesper club of Philadelphia, Dr. W. R. King, S. R. McFarland, and Harry Warner, were the recipients of a large party from the Potomac horse Saturday. The party was in charge of Capt. Johnstone, and was manned as follows: Messrs. Jones, Waddy, Pearson, Whitlington, Noordy, McKee, Ben-dict, Mohan, Thomsen, and Libby. Among the passengers were Mr. R. J. Meigs, Jr., and Mr. George Berry. A regular string band was carried along, and also a keg.

Games to be played this week are as follows: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Providence, in Buffalo; New York, in Chicago; B'rons, in Cleveland; Philadelphia, in Detroit; Baltimore, in Philadelphia; Allegheny, in New York; Columbus, in Louisville; and Cincinnati, in St. Louis. On Saturday, Baltimore, in New York; Allegheny, in Philadelphia; Cincinnati, in Louisville; Columbus, in St. Louis; Boston, in Chicago; Providence, in Detroit; New York, in Buffalo, and Philadelphia, in Cleveland.

OUTWELL AND GILFILLAN.

They Get Out of the Mutual Trust Company—Too Much De Kay for Them.

About the middle of last March Mr. James Gilfillan, treasurer of the United States, resigned that office, the resignation to take effect on April 15, on which date it was announced, he would assume the presidency of the Mutual Trust company of this city. Mr. Gilfillan carried out the programme, and other gentlemen prominent in financial and business circles were elected to and accepted office as directors of the trust company. Among them were George S. Boutwell of Massachusetts, ex-secretary of the treasury; Henry Haines, president of the Provident Life and Trust company of Philadelphia, and T. M. Perot, a wealthy brewer of Philadelphia. These changes in the directors were effected as the result of protracted negotiations set on foot by the trust company. It is stated that Mr. Gilfillan resigned his office as treasurer of the United States because of the indisposition offered him by the trust company. He has now resigned the presidency of the trust company, after filling the office about three weeks, and the representative gentlemen who accepted a part in the management, Messrs. Boutwell, Haines, and Perot, have also retired from the concern. Mr. Boutwell was made vice president when Mr. Gilfillan was made president.

Mr. Gilfillan was asked yesterday why he resigned. He replied that he did so because he found his position in the trust company unsatisfactory. He understood that the others who are mentioned retired for the same reason.

"We could not find out what we thought we ought to know about the concern," he continued, "and, therefore, could not remain in it. I was in a measure deceived about the institution. We could not find out who really controlled it. About three-quarters of the stock is represented by Sidney De Kay as trustee, but the meeting was held by who are the actual owners of the stock he represents we could not find out."

At the same time the holdings you speak of attempted to control, or did control, the institutions?"

"Well, yes."

Mr. Gilfillan has since accepted the presidency of the Mutual Trust company, which has an office in the Hotel building and operates extensive foundries for the manufacture of bronzes, under a French patent.

The Mutual Trust company was organized about three years ago as the Mutual Trust company by a number of mining men, including the eminent George D. Roberts. It had an old charter of the most comprehensive character, a relic of the Tweed regime in the local economy. Under it it also organized the American Mining Stock Exchange, from each of the members of which it obtained $1,000 for granting them the privilege of dealing in mining stocks in a room hired by the trust company. No change was made recently for want of patronage, and the only thing the company has to show for it is a lawsuit brought by one of the members, in behalf of himself and others, to recover the amount paid for the privilege of an alleged seat in the exchange. A number of well-known banking and mercantile men have been connected with the company at different times as officers or trustees, but none has held such office for any great length of time.

The company changed its name about a year and a half ago by an order of the supreme court. It had failed to effect the change by a legislative enactment, owing principally to the opposition of Col. William F. Holzer, then an assemblyman from Westchester county. It resisted an examination by the banking department, and the result was a suit by the attorney general in the name of the people. The suit was decided in favor of the department, but has been appealed, and the appeal is pending.

It is generally understood that the majority of the stock of the company is held by the De Kay brothers, Sidney and Drake, and that they, as the principal promoters of the concern, received it for the charter. The larger part of its cash capital was obtained from the sale of seats in the American Mining Stock exchange.

In the complaint of one of the members of the exchange against the company it is alleged that no accounting can be obtained of this money, which amounted to over $100,000. When Messrs. Boutwell, Haines, and Perot became interested in the company they purchased some of its stock at about $500 a share, the par value being $20. A friend of theirs said yesterday that they would now like to get their money back, and a gentleman cognizant of the affairs of the company said that he understood it had been refunded.

The vacancies made by the retirement of Messrs. Gilfillan, Boutwell, Haines, and Perot have been filled temporarily by William H. Grinnell as president, and by not very noticeable directors. The policy of the owners of the concern is stated to be a reorganization.

Some time ago, when Mr. Cyrus W. Field endeavored to organize an opposition stock exchange, he offered the Mutual Trust $25,000 for their franchises, they to retain all the assets for the concern.

The bank conversant with the recent changes said the trouble was that Sidney De Kay, as trustee, endeavored to control the concern through his brother Drake, and that no one has been able to learn how Sidney represents.

DUNN'S DEFENSE.

Elliott Hunts for the Chicago Sport With a Pistol—Savagely Criticizing the Prosecution.

CHICAGO, May 13.—The apparently half-hearted manner in which the prosecution of Jerry Dunn is being conducted has convinced most people in Chicago that the slayer of Elliott will not be punished very severely for his crime. "The crime," the attorney said, "is the crime of the Chicago sport."

The junior Washingtons defeated the Invincibles Saturday by a score of 35 to 0.

Three members of Vesper club of Philadelphia, Dr. W. R. King, S. R. McFarland, and Harry Warner, were the recipients of a large party from the Potomac horse Saturday.

The party was in charge of Capt. Johnstone, and was manned as follows: Messrs. Jones, Waddy, Pearson, Whitlington, Noordy, McKee, Ben-dict, Mohan, Thomsen, and Libby.

On Saturday, Baltimore, in New York; Allegheny, in Philadelphia; Cincinnati, in Louisville; Columbus, in St. Louis; Boston, in Chicago; Providence, in Detroit; New York, in Buffalo, and Philadelphia, in Cleveland.

On Saturday afternoon the members of the Capital City Gun club held their regular weekly shoot on the club grounds, Stone estate. The match was the most interesting one so far this year, and the spectators, Mr. and Mrs. De Kay, were becoming familiar with the dives of clay pigeons. The members shot at 15 clay pigeons each, 18 yards rise. The following was the score:

A JUMP INTO THE RIVER.

A Young Man Commits Suicide by Springing From a Ferry Boat.

A young, neatly dressed and gentlemanly appearing man took passage on the ferry boat Saturday evening at 6 p. m., and had passed the arsenal grounds when he dived himself of his coat and vest, deposited them on a chair, and mounting the railing sprang into the river. The boat was stopped, and efforts made to save him, but they were unsuccessful. In one of the pockets of his coat was found the following letter addressed to someone or may receive it:

May 12, 1883.—The cause of my destruction is from a physical and financial misfortune. I was born at Irontown, Mo., A. D. 1865, reared in Jackson, Mich., where I have a few friends who were interested in my welfare of life. I would be well if I inform them of my fate, for as such it will seem to them. My last place of employment was at St. Louis, where I was employed by James Torrey, Jackson, Mich.

Up to a late hour last night his body had not been found.

THE VETERANS INDIGNANT.

Resolutions by the John A. Rawlins Grand Army Post.

John A. Rawlins post, No. 1, of the Grand Army is exercised to the point of indignation over what it considers a violation of law in the appointment by Maj. Dye, authorized by the commissioners of men to places on the police force who have never been in the army or navy.

This post calls upon others to unite with it and lay the matter before the President, and for this purpose it has appointed a committee of five.

The feelings of this post of the Grand Army are formulated in the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we denounce the action of Maj. Dye and a majority of the commissioners of the District of Columbia in appointing policemen who never served in the army or navy of the United States in plain violation of law.

Resolved, That we request all other posts of the G. A. R. in Washington to unite with us in appealing to President Arthur to have the rights of soldiers respected, and urge him to compel the commissioners to do so.

Resolved, That we denounce and denounce as a shame and an outrage the appointment of ex-convicts to the police force.
